

Dr. Stephan Kriesel

Dr. Stephan Kriesel is an expert for national economic development and public sector reform. In the course of his career he has advised more than 20 governments plus corporate clients mainly in the Middle East, as well in the emerging markets of Asia, Eastern Europe, and Latin America. His special expertise is on strategies of national economic growth, government reform and social sector modernisation.

Stephan has served Kuwait's leadership over many years. He advised different clients, like the Amiri Diwan, the Prime Minister's Office, the Supreme Council of Planning, the Central Bank of Kuwait, and the GIC.

Stephan served over many years as the global head of the Tony Blair Government Advisory Practice, the government consultancy of former UK Prime Minister Tony Blair. Before that, he has been an Associate Partner with the international strategy consulting firm McKinsey & Co., worked at the World Bank and taught at the Harvard Institute for International Development.

Stephan holds a Ph.D. from the University of Heidelberg, Germany and an MPA (Master of Public Administration) from the Harvard Kennedy School of Government.